A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the only daily Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania the day following his nomination. It said:

The nomination of the Hon. Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal aspersions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be. It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates, there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest men and conscientious legislators.—Pittsburgh Post, June 28th, 1867.

The Post, in referring to the above, on the 29th of August, was pleased to say:

"We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams' private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic."

MR. STEVENS ON CONSERVATISM.

Thad. Stevens is out in another letter. In view of the present state of affairs, he attaches no little responsibility to the conservative Senators who combined to defeat a bill which he had reported and passed in the House, and which contained a provision prohibiting the removal of any of the District Commanders without the consent of the Senate. He says:

"Some of the members of the Senate seemed to doubt their power under the Constitution which they had just repudiated, and wholly outside of which all agreed that we were acting; else our whole work of reconstruction was usurpation, or perhaps they had a desire to be gravely conservative and magnanimous. These ideas seemed to control the action of some half a dozen Senators, who preferred trusting the President. A few Senators of great ability, undoubted patriotism and purity, have become so saturated with what they are pleased to call conservatism (whose meaning I confess I am unable to understand) that I fear they will forget the monster that was slain in 1776, and again in 1861, and will thus do great damage to the creation of a government now so capable of being converted into a political paradise. This is liable to happen, not so much by a direct and palpable attack upon its framework as by gradually forgetting the vital principles of the Declaration of Independence. Strike out one of the living sparks which give life to our Goddess of Liberty, and the mysterious and intense heat whose welding fires, near a century ago and at present, are fusing the principles of freedom and reducing despotism to a cinder, will gradually cool, until the most conservative despot could thurst his sword into it without affecting its temper.

I have said above that I did not know the meaning of Conservatism. I have since seen the report of a speech, said to have been made by an Ohio Senator, at Canton, Ohio, which, if it be truly reported and is to be considered as a definition of that doctrine, then it to me is very alarming—worse than copperheadism. It is legislation without authority, and reconstruction by usurpation.

IN MICHIGAN there is a large and prosperous community of colored people who fled from slavery some years ago and established a home for themselves in the free north. They now number about two thousand souls. They have fully demonstrated what colored people can do and shadow the condition of the masses of freedmen a few years hence. Many of them own good farms, they have three good churches, they support good schools, and some of their young people are seeking an education in higher seminaries and colleges. During the war the settlement furnished a full proportion of soldiers for the army of the Republic.

SOME industrious and over-zealous politicians, who seem to partake of the idea that Chicago rules national politics, has had circulated very extensively a document in which sixteen reasons are given why General Grant should be nominated for President by the Republican party. The most important reasons assigned are that Grant could not make an inaugural speech, and that "he claims to have no knowledge of politics."

THE pecuniary aid of New York city has been invoked to relieve the suffering of the citizens of Galveston, who are now undergoing the terrible infliction of the yellow fever. The disease is not expected to abate till the middle or end of November, and the noble Howard Association of that city is already crippled for want of funds to alleviate suffering, and is forced to appeal to the North for assistance.

MR. J. A. HILL, of the Leavenworth, (Kansas,) Conservative, a daily paper of large circulation and influence, is at present in our city, soliciting advertising patronage from our merchants and manufacturers. The Conservative is an admirable advertising medium through which to reach the western trade, and we trust Mr. Hill will meet with liberal encouragement.

THE reported assassination of Lopez, the betrayer of Maximilian, is contradicted. He is said to be alive at Vera Cruz. He will doubtless derive but little pleasure in perusing the notices of his death and commentaries thereon. A traitor is despised the world over.

THE MINERAL WATER MANIA.—If you don't want to grow old prematurely, if you would keep the hair upon your head, the teeth in your mouth, the lustre to your eyes and fullness in your face—if you would not have a used up digestive apparatus or a terrible spinal affliction—if you would, most of all give a wide birth to Bright's disease, which is making so many bite the dust, then first, and most of all, don't drink too much of the manufactured mineral waters that are offered from numberless fountains. They are sadly injurious when used to excess, and thousands of people in this city are drinking them to excess. Drink pure wine, if you must, and it surely will injure you less than constant bibbling at the "kissingen" and "vichy" fountains. Stick to your Croton and Crotonized milk, steep yourself in coffee and tea, but beware of these manufactured waters.—N. Y. Evening Gazette.

A TABULAR STATEMENT prepared from official sources by Governor Throckmorton, and furnished the War Department and the military commander of Texas, shows that within the last two years the Indians have murdered 155 persons, wounded 24, and carried into captivity 43 men, women and children. Of the latter 29 have been reclaimed. In addition to these, it is known that in the month of July past, seven others have been killed, four wounded and seven carried off captives. The official report of the amount and value of stock lost is meagre, but the following is the total of the reports made: Horses, 4,781; cattle, 30,838; sheep and goats, 2,430. This is far from being a complete statement of Indian depredations on Texas.

President's Order Executed.

THE "DIFFERENCES" BETWEEN GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENT.

The General's Powers Under the Reconstruction Law.

FERNANDO WOOD IN CONSULTATION WITH THE PRESIDENT.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, August 29, 1867.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, August 29, 1867.

General Order No. 81.

First, The following orders have been received from the President:

Executive Mansion, Washington, August 26, 1867. SIR: In consequence of the unfavorable condition of the health of Major Gen. G. H. Thomas, as reported to you in Surgeon Hasson's dispatch of the 21st instant, my order dated August 17, 1867, is hereby my order dated August 17, 1867, is hereby modified so as to assign Maj. Gen. Winfield S. Hancock to the command of the Fifth Military District, created by act of Congress, passed March 2d, 1867, and of the Military Department comprising the States of Louisiana and Texas. On being relieved from the command of the Department of the Missouri by Major General P. H. Sheridan, Major General Hancock will proceed directly to New Orleans, La., and assume the command to which he is hereby assigned. He will, when necessary to the faithful execution of the laws, exercise any and all powers conferred by acts of Congress upon District Commanders, and any and all authority pertaining to officers in command of Military Departments.

Major General P. H. Sheridan will at once turn over his present command to the officer in rank next to himself, and proceeding without delay to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., will relieve Major General Hancock of the command of the Department of Missouri.

Major General George H. Thomas will, until further orders, remain in command of the Department of the Cumberland.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
[Signed] ANDREW JOHNSON.
To U. S. Grant, Secretary of War, ad interim.

Second, In compliance with the foregoing instructions of the President of the United States, Major General P. H. Sheridan will, on the receipt of this order, turn over his present command to Brevet Major General Charles Griffin, the officer next in rank to himself, and proceed without delay to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and will relieve Major General Hancock, in command of the Department of Missouri.

Third, On being relieved by Major General Sheridan, Major General Hancock will proceed without delay to New Orleans, Louisiana, and assume command of the Fifth Military District, and of the Department composed of the States of Louisiana and Texas.

Fourth, Major General Geo. H. Thomas will continue in command of the Department of the Cumberland.

By command of
GENERAL GRANT.
[Official.]
E. D. TOWNSEND, Asst. Adjt. Gen.

THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENT.

The Intelligencer of to-day feels authorized to state that the reports of any personal differences between the President and Gen. Grant are unfounded; but that paper is not correct in announcing, in the same connection, that "whatever may be their respective views as to matters of detail, there is no conflict between them as to the prerogatives of each." Contrary to this, it is known there is a very decided difference of views on legal questions affecting their respective powers and duties under the Reconstruction acts.

A special from Washington to the New York Post states that after a careful investigation it is generally agreed among the friends of Gen. Grant that the supplemental reconstruction act confines his authority over District Commanders solely to approval or disapproval of their acts in removing rebel officials, and does not extend to all the acts of the said commanders, such as postponing elections, changing registration, &c. This is regarded as a great omission by Congress and was not so understood by Gen. Grant when Gen. Thomas was directed by him to continue in force every order of Gen. Sheridan's.

Fernando Wood had a long interview with the President to-day.

CABINET MATTERS.

The Situation Between Gen. Grant and the President.

PROPOSED REMOVAL OF GENERAL HOWARD, OF THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

Interview Between Gen. Grant and Mr. Langston.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, August 29, 1867.

CABINET MATTERS—GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENT.

Specials to the New York papers concerning the situation at Washington, contain additional speculations concerning the issue between the President and Gen. Grant.

The Times' special says the political situation on Wednesday night was calmer than for several days previous. General Grant had not refused to obey orders, notwithstanding the positive statement to that effect telegraphed on Tuesday. His last letter to the President was of no avail. In it General Grant earnestly urged Mr. Johnson to modify the order, and even went so far as to state his own opinion that persistence on the part of the President in his present course would bring innumerable evils upon himself and on his administration. He visited the President Wednesday morning and learned again that his suggestions and wishes would be overruled. The President insisted upon the order as it stands, and General Grant had nothing to do but obey. Whatever instructions General Grant may deem necessary, will follow hereafter in a separate order. Section second of the appropriation act compels all orders to be sent through his headquarters, but does not give the power to refuse to transmit orders which he may disapprove.

The supplementary reconstruction act, passed in July last, which everybody supposes gives General Grant precisely the same powers as are possessed by the military commanders, is strangely deficient in that very essential. It gives General Grant the power to approve or disapprove all removals, appointments, details, etc., of persons to or from office. He can himself remove the Governor of Mississippi, if he chooses; but if the President chooses to order the Boards of Registration in Louisiana to be re-opened for ninety days, Gen. Grant is powerless to prevent it; or if Gen. Hancock, on his own responsibility, shall choose to postpone indefinitely or otherwise the election ordered by General Sheridan, General Grant has not even power to disapprove his action.

It has transpired that President Johnson intended some time since to assign Gen. Rosseau to the command of the Department at Washington, vice Canby, ordered to relieve Sickles, but was persuaded by General Grant to abandon the project, although he expressed a desire to retain Rosseau near his person, and as yet no one has been assigned as Canby's successor. Gen. Rosseau is yet in New York, having unaccountably missed the last steamer, and he may yet be assigned to this command.

THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU AND GEN. HOWARD.

On Wednesday Mr. Langston, the colored lawyer, called upon Gen. Grant, at his office in the War Department, and stated to him the substance of his interview with the President, and then asked Gen. Grant's opinion as to the propriety of his accepting the office of Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau. The latter replied that he thought, under the circumstances, it was unadvisable for him, in every respect, to accept the office. He thought if General Howard should be removed, Mr. Langston could not hope to give greater satisfaction in the bureau. General Grant further said that he was fully satisfied that General Howard had done his best, and that he had committed no act which would not bear rigid scrutiny; but if he (General Grant) were to remain as Secretary of War, and Mr. Langston should be appointed to the position, he would aid him to the extent of his ability. General Grant, in conclusion, said nothing had been said to him about General Howard's removal, but if it were accomplished, he thought, for the reason already stated, that it would be inexpedient and of no practical benefit to the colored race for Mr. Langston to accept it under existing circumstances.

Mr. Langston said to General Grant: "I now ask that you will do everything that you can to keep General Howard at the head of the Bureau, for the good of my people and for the friendship which I have for him. I am fully satisfied General Howard has administered the affairs of the Bureau in the most conscientious manner, and looking only to the good of the colored people and the government. I cannot therefore consent to take this position. And further, I desire to say I will not accept it, believing it to be offered to effect the removal of General Howard and to embarrass the interests of my race."

SECRETARY SEWARD.

The Tribune's special says: Seward's friends declare he will resign within a week.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

What Emboldened Johnson—His Exasperation—Why Grant Took the War Office—A Plan Forshadowed—One Feature of the Attack—The Next Developments.

Sherman, Fessenden, Wilson, Edmunds, Trumbull, Conkling and Grimes had scouted the idea of impeachment. The same Senators had twice voted against intermediate sessions of Congress, although Grant and Stanton twice appeared among their desks in open session, and assured them all that the President was bent on mischief. General Grant went so far as to assert that if the power to remove District Commanders was left with Mr. Johnson, he would not fail to use it, and by all means at his disposal, seek to make the Congressional plan of reconstruction a nullity. Mr. Trumbull can affirm that General Grant thus argued to Senators, before he and others voted to give Mr. Johnson the power. "Impeachment is a farce," was the language which the combined tones of these men sent to the listening ears of the President. He heard the same from Wilson, Woodbridge, Churchill, Banks, Spalding, and Bingham in the House. Chief Justice Chase busied himself to overthrow the impeachment movement. And, incredible as it may appear, he based the argument not on its right or wrong, but on the question who would be made President. To Gen. Butler, whose feelings towards Gen. Grant are known, Mr. Chase said: "Why do you favor the impeachment, when, if accomplished, it must certainly make Grant President?" And to others, still others, ad hominum arguments.

The President heard it all and was content, and bided his time. "You dare not impeach the President," shouted Sam. Randall in the House, through set teeth. And all Mr. Johnson's friends repeated it in his ears, until both he and they believed it. And when Congress adjourned, though legally hampered, he felt that the field lay open and clear before him.

DETERMINATION, DISAPPOINTMENT, EXASPERATION.

These three words represent what has followed with the President. The defiant tone in which the country has responded, has greatly disappointed him. He has found that those Congressmen who were able to keep their way open to the White House, are powerless to control the opinions of the people. He saw that the mere threat to remove Stanton gave the impeachment party great strength, and that the consummation of the threat made it irresistible. Yet he was prepared, and did not stop. He had hoped to put one obstacle after another in the way of reconstruction, without exciting the people beyond the power of his conservative friends in the Senate and House to control. But he was determined, at all cost, to put obstacles in the way. And so exasperation has followed the failure to secure his ends in quiet, and now he seems bent on removing all who will not help him, and determined to surround himself with those whose councils will lead to violence. He regards impeachment as certain, and the signs are unmistakeable that he seriously contemplates resistance. Until within a few days this has only been believed in high official circles.

WHY GRANT TOOK THE WAR OFFICE.

That Mr. Johnson has contemplated serious trouble has been the firm conviction of General Grant and Mr. Stanton for many months. A dozen Senators can bear personal testimony to this. When Stanton was suspended, Mr. Johnson offered the place to Grant for two reasons. If he accepted, the game was to make it appear that the President had the support and countenance of Grant. If he declined, which was hoped, then a man ready and willing to do Mr. Johnson's bidding could be at once installed in Stanton's place. But Grant has fought rebels before, and overmatched them before in strategy. So on this occasion he at once occupied the position, to prevent the enemy from gaining it, and, besides, filed such protests against the President's course as will, when the country sees them, strip the President bare of all seeming support from him. Seeing himself checkmated if these papers became known, Mr. Johnson tried his old game of suppression, but this, too, has failed, and General Grant is to-day the only man who has his hand upon the throat of this would-be national assassin, and who, by the aid of all loyal men, will hold him back from his foul purposes.

A PLAN FORESHADOWED.

For two weeks most have attributed the President's acts to spasmodic ebullitions of anger, but the belief that a settled plan of operations has been agreed upon is rapidly gaining strength. Its purposes are thought to be these: to defeat impeachment; to hold on through the present term; to organize a Johnson party that shall uphold him in all steps necessary to accomplish this, even if the employment of force should be found requisite.

Not only have these threats of using force to protect the President been freely made in the Administration journals here,—but the matter has been seriously talked over by those who know the secrets of the President's mind, so far as any know them. Said one of these men in reply to a question by a friend of Mr. Johnson who had just arrived here, and asked: "What do you propose to gain by all these changes and especially by changing the Cabinet?" "We are preparing for a contingency." "What contingency?" continued the questioner, "the President alone can't remove, nor can he get any temporary appointments confirmed, he is powerless."

"Suppose in certain contingencies it should become necessary to scatter Congress next winter, the President must have the right kind of a Cabinet, and right men in place everywhere." And this is from a man whose character and standing make it very significant.

ONE FEATURE OF THE ATTACK.

A marked phase of the new movement has been the preparation of official documents filled with charges against the officers it was designed to remove, and the measures it was desired to counteract. Although Binckley was made the tool to shape the so-called conspiracy papers, a large number of the President's ring were engaged in arranging this blow at the impeachment movement. At least two Cabinet Ministers, Randall and McCulloch, were privy to it, and the latter expressed himself as believing that it would be a blow from which the impeachment party could not recover.

Charges are now being secretly prepared against General Sheridan, with the knowledge and consent of the President, if not under his own eye. It is understood that they will set forth that both Wells and Throckmorton were removed on personal grounds, and that the complications arising from the change in the Levee Board were needless, and that great suffering has come to the people of Louisiana in consequence. To these are to be added certain charges of corruption.

In the same manner a report, or paper, from some quarter within the pale of the Presidential inquisition, is soon to be fulminated against Gen. Howard. It is to astound the nation, say Mr. Johnson's friends, though little else is definitely known concerning its character. It may, perhaps, be judged by a single specification which it already contains. This sets forth that the fund of $2,500 placed by Congress in the hands of Gen. Howard to relieve the suffering poor of this District, much of it was appropriated by the General or his agents. The manner of accomplishing this is charged to be, that where an order for, say five dollars, in provisions was given upon the store where they were purchased, that not over half the amount was given out, the other half being divided among the dealer and the Bureau.

This and the other specifications which the forthcoming document will contain, are furnished in part by the secessionists of the city. They will carry about as much weight as the first Binckley failure.

THE NEXT DEVELOPMENTS.

A breaking up of the Cabinet is expected by many. If it takes place it will be because the President and those conspiring with him do not feel that, as now constituted, it can be depended upon for extreme or violent measures. Those of the President's friends who see that the hope of being able to use Grant has failed them, now intimate that he will be soon forced out of the war office by having a choice presented between issuing orders that he does not approve or leaving it. In case he still continues to remain, another appointment is probable.

A number of reports such as indicated will doubtless appear, Mr. Binckley being nearly ready to lead off with a second one of his Pickwickian compilations.

Thanks to the Conservative Republicans, Mr. Johnson has twelve weeks in which he is free to work his will, except as Grant and his military colleagues can curb him without exceeding the powers conferred upon them by Congress.—Washington Correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette.

Buffalo Competing for the Oil Trade.

The Titusville Herald says: The commercial element of Buffalo have long watched the diversion of the oil trade to Pittsburgh, Cleveland and other points with a jealous eye, and have finally decided upon attempting a revolution in the transportation of Petroleum, which shall make Buffalo, as the terminus of the Erie Canal, the point of handling and trans-shipment. The Buffalo Express says it is clearly understood now, that this commodity can be carried from that point to the New York market by Canal, at a much cheaper rate than by cars. This can be accomplished by the construction of boats with bulkhead compartments, rendered safe from combustion, and easy to be laden and discharged. These boats could be filled at Buffalo, towed to New York, and cargo delivered with great facility in almost any part of the city from the boats.

It further states that the State Line Railroad is negotiating—if the arrangement is not already completed—for the purchase of a tract of land on Buffalo Creek, where tankage will be promptly provided for one hundred thousand barrels. The tanks are to be constructed either by the road or under lease by individual capital. The depot will be conveniently located on the banks of the creek, and will be so constructed as to receive and discharge oil either in boats or cars, with great facility and expedition. On this same territory, also, there will be an extensive coal depot, at which coal will be received from cars and be delivered into boats and vessels with expedition and cheapness.

While canal navigation is slower than by rail, it is much safer and cheaper, so far as this commodity is concerned. Oil can be transported by canal, in such boats as we have alluded to, for from 50c to $1 per barrel, including the expense of handling. The consummation of this undertaking will give an immense carrying trade to the Cross Cut Railroad, which is already monopolizing the passenger traffic from the oil regions in that direction. While Erie was fast asleep over the Union and Titusville Railroad, she was quietly switched off upon a side track and awakes to find her old rival pocketing the spoils of a direct and expeditious communication with the oil regions.

The Express says:

The Lake Shore Road, from Buffalo city to Erie, is in excellent condition. The heavy masonry and filling, except at Silver Creek, is already complete, and the track in the most perfect order. A recent trip over it has enabled us, not only to appreciate its excellent management, but to observe the effect which the Cross Cut Road has upon its traffic. We were surprised at the number of passengers already passing over the Cross Cut. The up train from Buffalo was largely depleted, and on our return, the down train found more than one car load at Brocton, awaiting passage east. Already the roads from the oil regions, centering at Erie, find occasion to complain of a falling off in their traffic, and if this occurs now, what have we a right to expect when the route is well known to the traveling public and its advantages are more widely understood.

The Gold Market.

The high price of gold in the market, with its long continued strength and constant tendency to advance, are very different phenomena from what many of our financiers expected to witness this summer. Added to the other causes operating in this direction, there is now a deep undercurrent of distrust, anxiety, uncertainty about the future. The bulls of the Gold Board have, of course, been trying within the last few days to work this up to alarm and excitement, and it would certainly be hard for them to find a condition of things which they could more effectually labor in. As events and rumors come from Washington, timid people go about Wall street, "What next?" Nobody knows, yet everybody is ready to tell; and by adding this to that and the other, the news can easily be made sufficiently exciting and panicky. We can only suggest to people to keep as cool as possible, under all circumstances; for as affairs now are, and the markets are now shaping themselves, we are sure to have an abundance of sensational tales for a while yet; and as Congress meets in November, its probable doings will very soon begin to furnish new and exciting material for the use of the "street."

There is little doubt that the recent political occurrences in Washington will encourage the Obstructionists in the Southern States. There is a strong body of politicians in these States, who, through all the events and all the legislation of the past, have never ceased clinging to the hope that something would in time turn up which would enable them to gain the ascendancy, and which would give the triumph to the peculiar policy represented by the President. One must assuredly be capable of looking very far to see how the present course of things can help them or the South, and yet we have no doubt that they will be able to use events so as to work out harm to the South. It is possible for the Southern politicians even now to delay reconstruction, so that military government may be retained over them for years.—N. Y. Times.

—Three fatal cases of yellow fever have occurred in the Metropolitan Sanitary District during the current season—namely, two in New York and one in Brooklyn. The first, a prominent merchant of the latter city, went on board his ship, then lying at her dock where she had discharged cargo, examined her throughout, and after that exposure of perhaps an hour, in due time sickened and died. The vessel came from Mantanzas, an infected port, was detained in the Lower Bay, fumigated in the usual manner with chlorine and then allowed to come to the city. Prima facie, the ship was infected. The dead merchant, decomposing before death and dying with the blood oozing from his lips, is the proof.

The Point Riot Case.

We published in Monday's Gazette an account of a riot, which occurred on Saturday, and noticed the arrest of James Harkins, "Sig" and Frank Miller, Andy Thair, James Shannon and William Evans, as participants in the affair. The hearing was fixed for last evening, and at seven o'clock the accused and their counsel appeared before his Honor Mayor McCarthy. Messrs. Cochran and Morrison, Esq's., appeared for Harkins and Shannon, W. C. Moreland for Miller, and J. C. McCarthy represented the Commonwealth, while Evans and Thair were without counsel.

Martin Joice, the prosecutor, was called and testified as follows:

I live on Point street; was a few yards this side of the Point Exchange when I was called in to arrest Harkins. Arrested him and brought him along for a short distance, when the crowd took hold of the prisoner and asked me to let him go. I got him as far as Bunting's corner, when I was struck with a stone. I saw Frank Miller. He said to let Harkins be and he would go easy. I did not see him do anything. He took hold of me. I saw "Sig." Miller there also. He was in the crowd. I do not remember what he said. I did not see Andrew Thair. Saw James Harkins. Before starting with Harkins I asked Mr. Derning if he would make an information against him. I saw Big Jim; he told me to take the prisoner easy. I saw "Billy" Evans there; he came close to me and said "by G— he could stand it no longer." I do not know what he did after that. I had my mace in my left hand; Harkins gold of it and wanted to give it to some of the fellows behind him. I do not know who got it. Harkins then bit my hand.

Cross-examined—I am a police officer; the difficulty occurred between ten and eleven o'clock; I have a watch but did not look at it; it was between nine and ten o'clock when I went on duty; I saw Hawkins first standing at a lamp post; he struck at a man who was also standing there; I was sober; I had not been drinking that night; the bar keeper called my partner, I forget his name; we went into the Point Exchange and found Hawkins there; I saw some other persons there, but do not know who they were; I took hold of Harkins and he went along with me seven or eight yards; I know Miller; I saw him there; he was at the oyster house, and was sitting down; he was not in the bar room when I arrested Harkins; I can't say what the Millers were doing; Miller said "take him easy." there might have been 180 or 200 people there; it was Frank Miller who said that. The affray lasted for half to three-quarters of an hour; there were two police officers there; I can't say how many people were in the crowd. I first saw James about twenty minutes before I arrested him. He was at the back part, about fifteen yards from the Oyster House; I was about thirty yards from it, when he struck the man; Pollock keeps the Oyster House; it is about forty yards from the Point Exchange; Harkins was standing near the bar when I went in; I cant say what he was doing; when Harkins refused to go I struck him with the mace on the head; I struck him again when he stopped the third time; he stopped again at the engine house, on Fourth street; have stated all that Harkins did that I remember of. I first saw "Big Jim" shortly after I arrested Harkins; I did not strike either of the Millers with my mace, or with my fist.

Redirect—I struck Harkins because he wanted to get away from me. There might have been two-hundred persons in the crowd when I struck Harkins; I heard them hollowing hit the son of a b—h. I had not used my mace until after the crowd had gathered around me; Miller took me by the arm; I dont think he meant any harm by it; I cannot say when I saw "Big Jim," he came up to me and told me to take Harkins along easy.

Charles Derning sworn—I live at No. 7 Penn street; kept the "Point Exchange." Harkins was in my house on the night of the riot behaving in a disorderly manner. I was up stairs and heard the noise; came down and ordered him to leave, he refused to go, and I started behind the bar to get a glass intending to hit him with it. My bar keeper just then went to the door, and called the officer. Mr. Joice came in and asked me if I would appear against Harkins, and I told him I would, to take him along. I saw Evans, but did not see either of the Millers; I did not see the riot, it occurred a square above my house; I heard a pistol shot; do not know who fired it; Harkins was under the influence of liquor.

Frederick Shild was then called and testified that he saw the fuss but did not see Big Jim and Andy Thair. He had seen both the Millers rush through the crowd; saw stones or bricks flying at a fearful rate.

William Shields was next sworn but did not know anything about the case, having been in bed when the fight was going on.

Joseph Cox, sworn—saw the crowd but did not see any of the defendants; heard a pistol shot fired but do not know who fired it.

Patrick Joice, sworn—I saw "Sig" Miller; he had something under his coat; he was running around in the crowd where the policemen were; I know "Big Jim;" I saw him knock Foley down with something; cannot say what it was; "Big Jim" hit me on the head; there was a big crowd there, but I cannot say how many persons were there; there were stones or bricks thrown; "Big Jim" shot at me.

Cross-examined—The fuss between "Big Jim" and myself was after the fuss was over; Harkins was bloody; "Sig" Miller was trying to crowd in where the prisoner was.

John King, sworn—Was on the ground when the fight occurred. Saw "Big Jim" strike a man in the crowd. Heard a pistol shot; do not know who fired it.

John McGraw, sworn—Saw the fight but do not know who was engaged in it; there was a large crowd.

Patrick Irwin, sworn—Saw part of the difficulty; saw the crowd and walked into the centre of the street, and remarked that the prisoner had better go with the officers, and "Big Jim" struck me on the head; I did not know any of the crowd.

Cross-examined—I did not kick "Big Jim;" did not call him names.

Peter Farley, sworn—I was in the crowd; stones were thrown; I was struck on the face with something which knocked me insensible; I saw "Big Jim" there; he was not doing anything out of the way; saw "Sig" Miller, he was walking through the crowd.

Edward McDermot, sworn—Saw nothing but the crowd; think they were fighting; I was not near the crowd; did not see any of the defendants that night.

Abraham Thair, sworn—Saw Joice arrest Harkins; did not see him after they had passed up Point street.

John Cool, sworn—Saw two men dragging Polk Harkins; he used the mace on Polk twice; heard the crowd halloa not to kill him; I was not up where the riot was; I did not see either of the Millers.

The prosecution have examined all their witnesses. The case was continued until this evening at eight o'clock.

The Fayette Springs Hotel Project.

There is not a more tempting and interesting site for a place of of Summer resorte in the State than the mountain side, formerly occupied by the Fayette Springs House, near Uniontown, Pennsylvania. Since the destruction by fire of that famous and popular hotel no effort has been made to rebuild it. The superior inducements offered to capitalists for investment in a hotel there, however, are about to receive due attention. A meeting of citizens was held yesterday, at the Monongahela House to take some action regarding a project advanced to rebuild the house and to establish in the romantic wilds of Fayette county a place of resorte which will prove more pleasant and inducing than any other place in the country. The meeting organized by calling Geo. H. Holtzman, Esq., to the chair. Ex-Congressman Stewart submitted his proposition to convey one hundred and eighty-two acres of land on which the Fayette Springs are located, in Wharton township, Fayette county, Pennsylvania, to a company to be hereafter organized under a charter from the Legislature, when the said Company shall have obtained a bona fide subscription of stock to the amount of $50,000, one-fifth thereof to be paid in, for the purpose of erecting such buildings and improvements as the Company may think proper for a watering place. The aggregate capital stock of the Company, when organized, it is understood, will be fixed at $150,000.

The following resolution was then introduced and adopted:

Resolved, That Messrs. George H. Holtzman, Isaac N. Coursin, Wm. Henry, Wm. Duncan, George J. Duff, John McD. Crossen, John T. Shane and James Lowry, Jr., be, and they are hereby appointed as Trustees to carry out the primary agreement with reference to a conditional transfer of the Fayette Springs property.

Another meeting will be held at the same place this morning.

Education in Lawrenceville.

The advantages afforded in the way of common school education in Lawrenceville are not commensurate with the rapid progress of that borough, accommodation in the way of buildings being inadequate to the requirements of the rapidly increased population. We do not wish to be understood as intimating that in school matters, the borough is lacking, in comparison with other districts of the city and county. On the contrary, we believe the School Directors are fully alive to their duties, and have done, and are now doing what they can to meet all necessities. Recently we made note of the fact that lots had been purchased in the Second ward, on which to erect a capacious building. But whatever disadvantages may at present exist, they apply mainly to the smaller children, in the primary departments, the establishment of an academy, or private school, having supplied to a great degree accommodation for larger pupils. This institution s called the "Lawrenceville Academy," and is located on Butler street. It may properly be termed a preparatory school for boys and girls, the course of study embracing the higher branches taught in our common schools, and such special ones as may be desired, including the Latin, Greek and German languages. There is also a Commercial department, opportunity being afforded for complete instruction in all matters pertaining to a thorough business education. The principal is Mr. G. W. Nichols, an educator of large experience, and well known in this community, having officiated as principal of Common Schools in several districts of this county with acknowledged efficiency. On the score of qualification for his profession he requires no endorsement from us, the success which has attended his present school, and the high esteem in which he is generally held, being quite sufficient to entitle him to further patronage. The tenth session of his academy commences on Monday next.

To-morrow the editors and compositors of the Cleveland Herald and Leader are to play a match game of base ball. The challenge emanated from the attaches of the Leader. The two "nines" are to be composed of those who know nothing about the game.

The Black Case.

The case of The United States vs Robert Black, to be taken up in the United States Court to-day, may be said to be a branch of the Moffit-Thompson conspiracy case, tried at the March term of the Quarter Sessions. A little bit of history in this connection may not be out of place. In May, 1866, information was lodged before U. S. Commissioner Sproul, by William Dawson, charging a number of persons, among others Isaac and Samuel Thompson, residing in the vicinity of Brownsville, with passing counterfeit national currency, the prosecution being at the instance of Mr. Moffit, also a resident of Brownsville. The case grew out of the arrest of an unsophisticated Irishman named Hagerty, who, in purchasing horses in Greene county, had paid for them in counterfeit currency. He made a clean breast of his guilt, and implicated Dawson and the Thompsons, not in the particular transaction, but as being in the counterfeiting business. Dawson came to the city with Moffitt, and under the belief that although he might acknowledge his complicity in divulging the facts concerning those with whom he was associated, the Government would not proceed against him, he made the deposition against the Thompsons and others. Arrests were made and the accused held to answer at the next succeeding term. They appeared as required, but Dawson was non est, and the case was not laid before the Grand Jury. Dawson remained absent, is still absent, and in consequence the information made by him has not been disposed of, the accused parties renewing their bail from time to time, until finally they were discharged without bail, or what is equivalent, were released upon their own recognizances. Shortly after Dawson's disappearance, or during the fall of 1866, Moffitt, in conjunction with Dawson was prosecuted by Isaac Thompson for conspiracy to charge and indict him for passing counterfeit money. An indictment was found, and the case tried, as we have said, at the last March term of the Quarter Sessions, Robert Black appearing as a witness for the prosecution, or on behalf of Thompson. To the surprise of many conversant with the case, the jury found a verdict of guilty. But a motion for a new trial was successful, and it is barely possible that the case will be tried again, if for no other reason, to determine who shall pay the costs, which will amount to a considerable sum. Following the trial for conspiracy Robert Black, a witness for Thompson, was charged with passing counterfeit money, at the instance, we believe, of Moffitt, and held in heavy bail for his appearance for trial, Isaac and Samuel Thompson becoming his bondsmen. This is the case which will be taken up to-day, and among the witnesses in attendance we notice Moffitt, whose present place of residence is in Washington city, D. C.

When the case was called yesterday, the defendant, in reply to an inquiry by the District Attorney, said that Thos. M. Marshall and Wm. Linn, Esqs., were his counsel. Neither of these gentlemen were present, and a bailiff was sent for them. Very shortly after Mr. Linn made his appearance and learning what had transpired, had a statement to make to the Court. He remarked that "like Bob Matthews, he was over forty." At the request of the defendant, and in the absence of Mr. Marshall, he had looked somewhat into the case, paid it some attention, but he had his price, and the defendant had not come to time. In other words, Mr. Black had not paid him his fee, and therefore he was not concerned as counsel. This left the defendant without an advocate, the bailiff announcing that Mr. Marshall was not in his office. Hence it was that the case went over till this morning.

Attempted Outrage.

A daring attempt was made by two ruffians to outrage a colored girl in Allegheny City, Wednesday night. There had been a ball in Manchester, from which the girl, in company with a negro man, was retiring. They were met on Ohio avenue, near Frazier's board-yard, by two men, one of whom threw a stone at the colored man, striking him on the forehead and knocking him insensible for a short time. They both seized hold of the girl and dragged her into the board-yard, where they attempted to outrage her person, and would have succeeded had it not been for the cries of her escort, who recovered from the effects of the blow he had received and cried out "murder" sufficiently loud to awaken a number of the residents of the vicinity, some of whom went to his assistance. His cries, in connection with the voices of those who had come to his relief, frightened the fiends, and they made their escape. The man was severely injured from the blow he had received. There was a frightful gash on his forehead fully two inches in length and an inch wide. The night was so dark that the girl was unable to identify either of the men who had hold of her, and it is probable they will escape the punishment their damnable conduct so richly deserves.

A Family Quarrel.

James Smith, son of John Smith, married a daughter of James Richey. Smith, contrary to the usual custom of the Smiths, will occasionally get "fuddled," and is said to be a worthless "cuss." His wife had a number of pigs on her father's farm, and after selling all the personal property about his own premises and squandering the money, he "went for the pigs," and his father-in-law refused to let him have them, and ordered him to leave the premises, and it is alleged by Smith threatened to whip him, for which he made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against Richey for surety of the peace. Richey was arrested and held for a hearing, and in time made information before the same magistrate against Smith for the same offence.

Margaret J. Smith, the wife of James, also made information against him for aggravated assault and battery, alleging that he kicked her out of the house and otherwise ill treated and abused her. The parties reside at Glendale Station, on the Fort Wayne Railroad. Warrants were issued for his arrest in both the above cases.

Diabolical.

Some individual, with the spirit of a fiend incarnate, attempted to wreck a train on the West Pennsylvania Railroad on Wednesday evening. The Sharpsburg Accommodation left the depot in Allegheny about eight o'clock, and when it had reached a point in Duquesne borough, opposite Hare's Island, an obstruction was encountered, which, fortunately, did not (as must have been intended) throw it off the track. The engine cleared the obstacle, and the train was speedily checked. The obstruction upon examination proved to be a piece of iron, which had been driven into the frog of a switch, and it was quite sufficient for the purpose intended, had the train been going at ordinarily full speed.

Robbery.

James Stewart, a carpenter, formerly of McKeesport, but at present working in the city, and boarding at Mrs. Gillespie's, on First street, was robbed on Wednesday night of $22, all the money he had about him. He was informed at supper time by the landlady that a young man, who also boarded at the house, would sleep with him that night, but it appears the young man did not do so. It is alleged by a room mate of Stewart's that he saw the young man referred to in the room at twelve o'clock at night, standing near Stewart's bed, but in the morning he was not about the house. The money was taken from the pockets of his pants which, were hanging on the bed post.

Threatened to Poison Her.

Harriet Fairfax, a lady of light color, residing at 26 Wylie street, had some difficulty with Julia Anna Constantina Richards, also of the "black and tan" persuasion, who it appears occupies a part of the same house with the aforesaid Harriet. Julia alleges that Harriet threatened to slap her in the mouth, and said she would "come Mrs. Grinder on her," and also threatened to poison her, Julia's, family. Julia not feeling disposed to leave this mundane sphere, by the aid of poison, she appeared before Alderman Taylor and made information against Harriet for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued.

Fatal Accident.—William Cooney, of Lancaster city, an employee on the Reading and Columbia railroad, was killed on that road near Reinholdsville, on last Sunday. He was at work on a train of cars used for hauling dirt and rubbish, when part of the car on which he was standing gave way, and he fell under the train, being instantly crushed to death. A man named Carpenter was on the same car, and although thrown for some distance, escaped serious injury.

Three of the Thieves who entered the clothing store of James Clothier, on Liberty street, Wednesday evening, and took therefrom a quantity of goods, were boys named Mickey Dunn, Thomas Shelley and Charles Ingram. There was another in the party, but it is not known who he was. Some of the Mayor's police arrested those named at Trimble's Varieties, a few hours after the robbery. They will be sent up for trial.

Collar Bone Broke.—Bridget McGovern, a resident of Harmer street, Lawrenceville, a few days since assaulted Mary and Helen Garway with a poker, with which she struck them several times with such force that one of the blows broke Mary's collar bone. Martin Garway appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and charged Bridget with felonious assault and battery, and a warrant was issued for her arrest.

Poisoned Herself.—The wife of Charles Swartzfager, of Ashland township, Clarion county, died from the effects of strychnine, on Wednesday, last. It appears that she mistook a bottle of this fatal poison, which had been procured to kill rats, for pills, which she supposed had become pulverized. She took about as much as she thought would be the size of a pill, and died in less than half an hour.

The Whisky Court.—The County Commissioners, as the Board of License, on Wednesday sat in judgment upon applications for license to sell liquor, or in legal language, to keep taverns, eating houses, and sell with other goods. So far as they have rendered judgment, twenty-six applications were granted, and nineteen refused.

Surety of the Peace.—Martin Garway, of Lawrenceville, appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and made information against Frank McLaughlin for surety of the peace. The parties both reside on Harrison street, Lawrenceville. A warrant was issued.

A Correspondent speaks of a young lady at one of the watering place who has been nineteen for five seasons. Those are rejuvenating "springs."

Gen. Grant will retain Gen. Ekin, of Pennsylvania, in the Quartermaster's Department at Washington.

The Democrats of Dauphin county refused to endorse Andrew Johnson at their recent Convention.

The Most Terrible Diseases

With which we have to contend are those of the lungs and pulmonary organs, because they attack the very citadel of life. It is in these important organs that the vital air is received, and upon which health and vigorous usefulness depends. How important, then, to cure the first invasion of disease by a timely application of the right remedy! That remedy for diseases of any of the pulmonary organs is DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP, "which in more than ten thousand instances, has warded off and cured those diseases which, if left to themselves, in many cases, would have become incurable diseases of the lungs. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP effects its purpose by strengthening nature in her efforts, by checking, dissolving, correcting or expelling mortid humors from the checked or clogged organism."

It dissolves and carries out of the system that starchy and viscid phlegm which obstructs the bronchia and air passages, and hinders the proper inspiration of pure air necessary to the proper fulfilment of physical life. It has even been known, after tubercles have been formed and developed in the substance of the lungs, to dissolve them and carry them out of the system. It is in this way alone that we account for the many extraordinary cures that DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP has made—cures made in this city, and among people who have given their only testimonials as to its efficacy. Not one of a few cases, but in nearly every house DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP has made cures of ordinary coughs and colds, and in some instances of lung diseases, which had boggled at the use of every other remedy or kind of treatment. Do not neglect slight coughs and colds. They are the harbingers of fatal lesions or fatal developments of some serious lodgment in the system, which if not carried out or silenced, will gnaw away the vitals, or cough into shreds the delicate linings of the throat and lungs.

First Premium and Gold Medal.

The only sewing machine, that received the first Premium (which was a Gold Medal,) at the late Paris Exhibition, was that manufactured by the Wheeler & Wilson manufacturing company of New York. Rival & Co's. claiming the first Premium, know very well that it does not belong to them. A copy of the official report in regard to these awards is now in the hands of the company which proves the above statement correct.

We confidently say that there is no machine combining so many simple, useful and valuable improvements as the Wheeler & Wilson, and to show you that such is the case the agents in this city ask you to visit other agencies to obtain the gratest variety of samples they can produce, and compare with those made on the first Premium sewing machine, viz, Wheeler & Wilson. The agency is at No. 27 Fifth street.

You Patronize Large Stores under the impression that you get things cheaper. This is a mistake, as you will find at No. 112 Federal street, the following articles as cheap as at any house in either city. FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1867.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT INTENDS.

Not a few individuals suppose that President JOHNSON, in the removal of Secretary STANTON, Gen. SHERIDAN, and other like movements, accomplished or in prospect, is swayed mainly, if not exclusively, by opposition to Congress. They conceive him to be a violent man, without method or continuity, whose passions have been stirred up by contradiction, and who means to take the readiest and heartiest revenge he can. Such views are false and misleading. Doubtless the President has been soured by the steady resistance of Congress to his plans. But those plans of his antedate the resistance of Congress, and made that resistance necessary.

With the termination of the Rebellion President JOHNSON easily reverted to the political ideas in which he was educated. Those ideas were not only democratic, but southern. Personal association and political affiliation helped him on in this retrograde march. After he had entered upon it, with a fixed determination to make it effectual, the impediments put in his way by Congress chafed his natural irascibility, causing him to indulge in outbursts of rage and disappointment, which only distracted from his dignity and diminished his power to consummate his projects. This renewed acceptance, late in life and under circumstances of embarrassment and difficulty, of traditionary ideas, rejected upon full consideration in the maturity of strength and knowledge, is by no means uncommon. Even SOCRATES, whose philosophy led him to reject the theologic notions and observances in which he was educated, when called to confront the Unknown, went back to the simple form his mother taught him, and sacrificed a cock to ESCULAPIUS. Instances illustrating the same habit, in connection with every conceivable system, religious or civic, are profusely scattered up and down through history.

President JOHNSON is approaching the end of his official term. His successor will be chosen next year. The arrangements preliminary to that end will soon be entered upon by both political parties. He has evidently resolved that the full weight and influence of his administration shall be given to the democrats. To this end it is necessary to hinder the process of Reconstruction, and to expel from his Cabinet, and, as far as practicable, from other places of authority under the government, all incumbents who are identified with the Republican organization, or who rest under even remote suspicion of prefering its success to that of its antagonist.

General SHERIDAN had so deported himself as to become, in a certain sense, an embodiment of the Congressional scheme of Reconstruction; that is, from judgment and sympathy, he construed and enforced the Military Governments Acts in the spirit in which they were framed. As those Acts were passed first against the President's recommendation, and afterwards over his vetoes, the energy with which the General gave them exemplification in his District, was regarded by that functionary as a constructive personal affront. He has, indeed, referred to an expression of SHERIDAN's, in a telegraphic note to GRANT, in which the Executive was spoken of in terms not remarkable for suavity, as the occasion of his displeasure. But that note was private and unofficial, and up to this hour has not taken authentic form. Besides, the whole country knows the President was out of patience with SHERIDAN long before that note was written, and was hunting for a pretext to get rid of him. The appearance of the note was the opportunity, and the President has used it. He would have made the removal all the same, if that note and none of like import had ever been written.

Secretary STANTON was, also, in the President's way. His displacement was needful to giving effect to the plans that had been matured. We are not admirers of Mr. STANTON. How he maintained his foothold in the Cabinet after the passage of the Office Tenure Act, we know and approve; how he kept it before we also know, but do not commend. When he held by courtesy of the President he made concessions of principle when we thought it would have been more manly in him to have thrown up and gone into private life. His friends said he was actuated by high public considerations; but as we could not take that view of his case, we were compelled to dissent from their averments. But, this is plain, that in the progress of events Mr. STANTON came to represent in the War Department obedience to the laws, and in that position his removal was an insult to the loyalty of the nation.

It is now said that Mr. SEWARD has fallen under the displeasure of the President, and, in accordance with his own sense of propriety, will soon tender his resignation of the office of Secretary of State. Mr. SEWARD has extraordinary abilities and culture. No American statesman, unless Mr. ALEXANDER HAMILTON furnishes the exception, has surpassed him in scope of understanding, in dexterity, in the development of thoughts, and in tact in the management of men and affairs. As an inculcator of ideas, that is, in the function of a teacher, not one of our public men has proved his equal. When the conflicts of the present time shall have passed away, this, we think, is the rank he will take in history. But Mr. SEWARD is so constituted by nature that he sunk into supineness when his most cherished principles were to receive their vindication. He is lacking in physical hardihood or courage. When the hour of trial came, he quailed, and passed under a cloud, from which he will emerge nevermore. He now belongs to the past, and it is of little consequence to the nation what disposition is made of him. For a long space he was the evil genius of the Cabinet, and now he is about to be cast adrift chiefly because the few who remain of his old Republican adherents will not follow him or the President into the Democratic ranks.

Mr. RANDALL never was of special moment. A fluent and pleasant talker, plausible but not strong, ornate rather than convincing, companionable in personal relations, and complying when an advantage is to be gained by stooping, he deserted the Republican party and went over to the Administration when it was of importance for it to gain recruits from that side and few were offering. His ductility gained him a place in the Cabinet. The grand Conservative party shot up in a day, and deceived many, Mr. RANDALL among the number. But, unfortunately for him, like JONAH's gourd, the Conservative party withered over night. Now he wants to work back into his old position. He thinks it will help his case to roam about, with his head under his arm, in testimony of martyrdom. But martyrs have grown stale. There is no such enchantment in them as there was of yore, especially in martyrs of this pattern. It may be an interesting problem to Mr. RANDALL, what shall become of him, but nobody would grieve were he buried politically fifty fathoms deep.

The Democrats, with the countenance of the President, and the aid of Government patronage, obtained through the connivance of the heads of the Executive Departments, mean to make a determined stand in the next Presidential canvass. They fancy a sort of omnipotence resides in patronage, when wielded dextrously and with a will. It has a charm, beyond doubt, over some inferior men. JUDAS sold himself for thirty pieces of silver; and some politicians have sold themselves for ten pieces and were dear at half that price. The utmost that patronage can do has been done many times; but it never has availed to stay, much less turn back, the matured will of the people. It has been the death of many a poor dog; never of a vital principle, that earnest men sought to engraft upon the Government.

But this combination, and the rigor with which it is pushed, ought to convince the Republicans that no holiday parade is before them. If they intend to settle the issues growing out of the war, and especially to reconstruct the Union, on the basis of justice, and with proper reference to the rights and interests of all the people, so that concord may be maintained for ages to come, they will take their measures wisely and without delay, and then act with decision.

The first point for them to determine is, what they will do with the President. That he does not mean to execute the laws, or have them executed by his subordinates if he can restrain them, is superabundantly palpable. The fact that Congress has been impelled, not by a spirit of faction, but by a calm and intelligent sense of what is demanded by the public welfare, to press its authority to the utmost limit of the Constitution, and even to venture on debatable ground, in order to countervail the machinations of the President, affords conclusive evidence that it has been false to its own convictions in not removing him from office. When a man cannot be trusted in official position, the sooner he is displaced the better. What would be thought of a bank, a railway or manufacturing company, which should continue in office a notoriously dishonest agent, attempting to hedge him about with supervisory arrangements of an offensive nature and questionable validity? In like manner, the extreme measures that Congress has adopted to keep the President from frustrating the will of the nation, and within the line of his duty are proofs that the Houses have seen what they ought to do, but have been deficient in resolution to perform it.

The next point is to select a candidate for President who has been thoroughly tried in tempest as well as in calm—in the Rebellion as well as in the discussions that preceded it—and has been found wanting in no essential attribute. The Conservative junto that caused Mr. HAMLIN to be set aside in 1864, and secured the nomination of Mr. JOHNSON in his stead, are as busy now as they were then in malevolent engineering. They want either a man who is known to be against Congress and the people, or one who holds so ambiguous a position that the country does not know where he stands, and may with equal assurance be claimed on both sides. The country is not in the humor to take such a man. If it was its condition would be truly deplorable. Under a representative government it is of the highest necessity that candidates for civil honors should have opinions on public questions, and particularly such as are of gravity, and that those opinions should be known of all men. How else can the fundamental idea of representation be realized? When freemen reach the point that they are ready to bestow their proxies in the government upon any man without definite assurances as to the manner in which he will employ them, they are fast verging to the point where they will be ready to take the yoke of despotism upon their necks, because fitted for nothing better.

Another and final point to be attended to, is to take care that the elections about to be held do not give the President and the Democrats encouragement. For instance, it would not only be shameful for the Republicans to allow the Democrats to carry Pennsylvania the coming October, but it would be highly damaging. Such a result would be used as solid proof of reaction among the people against the course of their Representatives in Congress, and in favor of the President. We do not anticipate a catastrophe of that sort. But a knowledge of the fact that it is earnestly desired and laboriously struggled for ought to inspire every genuine Republican with a determination, by immediate and vigorous efforts to make assurance doubly sure.

Beecher on Natural Laws.

Men divide laws into different classes They say that there is a law which relates to the flesh, to the body, and a law which relates to the mind. But the body is not more natural than the mind. The mind is natural, and the law of the intellect is a natural law. The moral nature is natural, and the law of the moral feelings is a natural law. That law which harmonizes you with your fellow man is a natural law. Is that a natural law which determines the fact that weights shall gravitate to the earth? Is that a natural law which governs the process of digestion? Is that a natural law which controls the various functions of the body? And is that not a natural law which determines men's thoughts and motives, and the results which are wrought out by one and another class of faculties in life? There is no more mischievous tendency possible than to bring up a generation of men with the impression that moral laws wait with their penalties till after men die and the judgment day comes. I repeat, that all natural laws are moral laws. You sin against God when you sin against your foot; you sin against God when you sin against your hand; you sin against God when you sin against your brain, or any part of yourself, as really—though perhaps not as seriously, not as heinously—as when you sin against your neighbor, or against the whole of society and its interests. When you violate a natural law, you violate a moral law that is wrapped up in it. There is no such distinction of names in the mind of God. They may be convenient in our weakness for describing different classes; but in their interior and substantial nature, all natural laws are moral laws, and all moral laws are natural laws.

SOME facts about crime in England and Wales have just been published in the Blue Book of judicial statistics for 1866. Compared with the previous year, the serious offenses show a decrease, while, probably on account of more frequent application of summary jurisdiction, the minor offenses disposed of by magistrates show an increase. We learn that we have 23,728 policemen, who cost us £1,827,105; being 478 constables and £78,647 more than the year before. The criminal classes "at large" are set down at 113,566, but of these 32,101 are of the tramp and vagrant fraternity. Those not at large are 16,708 in local prisons, 7,018 in convict establishments, and 3,635 in reformatories. In England and Wales there are 20,249 houses of bad character. During the year there were 50,549 indictable offenses, in respect of which 27,190 persons were apprehended and committed. The murders numbered 131, being four less than the total of 1865. The attempts to murder were 45, and there were 679 cases of shooting, stabbing, &c.; 250 cases of manslaughter, 8 of attempts to procure miscarriage, 211 of concealment of birth, 155 of unnatural offenses, 257 of rape, 322 of assaults with intent, &c., 272 of assaults and bodily harm, 207 of common assault, and 164 of assaults on "peace officers." There were 481,770 persons proceeded against summarily, and of these more than one-fourth were discharged.

A CURIOUS PETITION has been presented to the Assembly at Melbourne, Australia, in reference to the Education bill. It was from a number of Chinese, and was written in Chinese characters, accompanied by an English translation. It was addressed "to the honorable and universally respected gentlemen in Parliament assembled, deliberating on the honorable affairs of state in obedience to the dictates of heavenly reason, and for the furtherance of the well-being of the people." It then stated that the petitioners had heard that a proposal had been submitted for establishing among the Chinese schools for instructing them in their own and in English letters. They felt that the proposal indicated a benevolent heart and a philanthropic purpose; and, approaching the presence of Parliament with "profound prostration," they hoped that it would give effect to this laudable project, "seeing that it is one that will help to show us ignorant people that we are now to reject the evil and prefer the good."

—A negro man in Maury county, Tennessee, whose melon patch had often been invaded, hired another negro to watch the patch at night, giving him a gun and ordering him to fire on seeing any one in the vicinity. The proprietor concluded that he would walk around that night and see if his sentinel was attending to his duty. The sentinel fired and killed him instantly.

Gail Hamilton on Marriage—Advice to Girls.

I have seen girls—respectable, well educated daughters of Christian families, of families who think they believe that man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever, who profess to forsake the vanities of this world, and consecrate themselves to the Lord, who are yet trained to think and talk of marriage in a matter utterly frivolous. Allusions to and conversations on the subject, are of such a nature that they cannot remain unmarried without shame. They are taught, not in direct terms, at so much a lesson, like music or German, but indirectly, and with a thoroughness which no music can equal, that if a woman is not married it is because she is not attractive; that to be unattractive to men is the most dismal and dreadful misfortune; and that for an unmarried woman, earth has no honor and no happiness, but only toleration or unmitigated contempt.

What is the burden of the song that is sung to girls and women? Are they counselled to be active, self-helping, self-reliant, alert, ingenious, energetic, aggressive? Are they braced and toned up to solve for themselves the problems of life; to meet its ills undaunted and its happiness unbewildered? Go to! Such a thing was never heard of. It is woman's rights! It is strong minded! It is discontent with your sphere! It is masculine! Milton and St. Paul to the rescue!

"For contemplation he, and valor formed;
For softness she, and sweet attractive grace."

So "she" is urged to cultivate sweet, attractive grace by acquainting herself with housework, by learning to sew and starch, and make bread; to be economical and housewifely, and so a helpmate to the husband who is assumed for her. This is the true way to be attractive, she is informed, "Men admire you in the ball room," say the mentors and the mentoresses, "but they choose a wife from the home circle."

Marriage is simply a reward of merit. Do not be extravagant, or careless, or bold, or rude for so you will scare away suitors. Be prudent and tidy, and simple, and gentle, and timid, and you will be surrounded by them, and that is heaven, and secure a husband, which is the heaven of heavens. A flood of stories and anecdotes deluge us with proof. Arthur falls in love with the beautiful, romantic, poetic, accomplished Leonie till she faints one day, and he rushes into her room for a smelling bottle, and finds no hartshorn, but much confusion and dirt; while plain Molly's room is neat, tidy, and overflows with hartshorn, whereupon he falls out of love with Leonie, in with Molly, and virtue and vice have their reward. Or Charles pays a morning visit and is entertained sumptuously in the parlor by Anabel and Arabel and Clarabel and Isabel in silks, while Cinderella stays in the kitchen in calico and linen collar. But Charles catches a glimpse of Cinderella behind the door, and loves and marries the humble, grateful girl, to the disappointment and deep disgust of her flounced and jeweled sisters. Or Jane, at the tea table cuts the cheese rind too thick, and handsome young Leonard infers that she will be extravagant. Harriet pares it too thin, and that stands for niggardliness; but Mary hits the golden mean, and is rewarded with and by handsome young Leonard. Or a broomstick lies in the way, over which Clara, Anna, Laura and the rest of them step unheeding or indifferent, and only Lucy picks it up and replaces it, which Harry, standing by, makes a note of, and Lucy is paid—with the honor of being Harry's wife. Moral—Go you and do likewise, and verily you shall have your reward, or at least you stand a much better chance of having it than if you do differently. "Be good and you will be married" is the essence of the lesson.

TORTURE.

Who would endure the torture arising from Chills and Fever, when it can be easily cured?

Who would endure sleepless nights, burning fevers, and icy chills alternately, when a remedy can be obtained for a trifle?

Who would wander like a never ending shadow, never knowing what moment they may be prostrated?

Who would be a burden to himself and a burden to his friends, who are worn out in administering to his wants?

Who would live this life of agony when the great alterative and tonic, can be obtained at the nearest village. This long established and justly renowned medicine has never been known to fail in a single case, and none but the foolish and weak would hesitate to procure it at once, and save themselves from intense, life-long torture. Prepared after a long experience and deep study, it has received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes from every other part of the country. To those who doubt its many virtues, all we say is, TRY IT and judge for yourselves.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,

Every day letters pour in upon us, testifying to its great efficacy in curing Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Languor, Nausea, and similar ills.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C—.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC!

A FEW AVARICIOUS AND UNPRINCIPLED FLOUR DEALERS in and around Pittsburgh are now purchasing second-hand sacks, with our brand upon them, filling them with an inferior quality, and selling it as our Flour. Finding it difficult to procure the quantity of second-hand sacks, they are trying to get the sack maker here to make and print a lot for them.

To prevent this fraud, we are now pasting our sacks, and sealing them with a printed label, with name of firm and date of manufacture.

As we keep a register of the Flour made each day, and the kind of Wheat ground, we are at all times enabled to know the quality of Flour made.

LOOK OUT FOR SHORT WEIGHTS!

Some of the dealers who are filling the sacks, are putting up short weights, in some cases equal to twenty pounds per barrel, making fully one dollar per barrel loss to the consumer.

A REWARD OF $50.00

Will be paid for information that will lead to the detection and conviction of any person engaged in this fraudulent business.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store.
Truly yours,

KELLEY'S WEEKLY,
AN ILLUSTRATED JOURNAL FOR THE PEOPLE.

We will commence Saturday, September 7, 1867, the publication of our handsome weekly, a paper of sixteen pages of the same size and form of Harper's Weekly. No expense will be spared in making it the best Literary paper published in the world. Our illustrations will be original, and will glow with the skill of our best artists. Some of the most distinguished writers of America and Europe have been engaged to contribute to its columns.

On SATURDAY, September 7, 1867, we will distribute half a million dollars of the profits in shares to our patrons, from a subscription amounting to $2,000,000.

One share returned to every subscriber.
One share cash..........$20,000
One share cash.......... 10,000
One share cash.......... 4,000
1,477 shares cash, from $1 to $5,000 each.......... 66,000
Other shares amounting to.......... [illegible]

A committee chosen by the subscribers at Irving Hall, New York, September 7, 1867, will distribute the above named shares, and their report will be published in Kelley's Weekly and sent to all agents.

TERMS TO SUBSCRIBERS:
1 copy, 3 months, with number of share.....$1 50
1 copy, 6 months, with 2 numbers of shares..... 3.00
1 copy, 1 year, with 4 numbers of shares..... 4.00
6 copies, 3 months, with 6 numbers of shares 5.50

All parties subscribing for our paper, and sending us money for the same, will receive by return mail a receipt for the time subscribed for, with number of shares.

The Committees appointed to distribute the gifts in Kelley's North American Gift Concert, will publish their report in full in Kelley's Weekly.

Send name and address of each subscriber. Money by draft, post-office order, express, or in registered letters, may be sent at our risk. Address A. A. KELLEY & CO., Publishers,

MR. AND MRS. SMART'S
Classical and Commercial
ACADEMY,
(for Misses, young Ladies and Gentlemen,) No. 12 ISABELLA STREET, Allegheny, near the Suspension Bridge, will re-open for the Seventh Session, on Monday, the 26th of August.
Mr. SMART was employed during seventeen years, first as a public instructor, and subsequently as an examiner of appointees to the Inland Revenue Department of the Civil Service of Great Britain. Mrs. SMART, specially educated for the profession in one of the first Seminaries in England, has had large experience.
The course embraces every requisite of a sound and a liberal education, and parents committing their children to our charge may depend on their being WELL TAUGHT.
Our School Room covers the entire third story of our residence, and as we are not under any expense for hall rent, and employ no assistant teachers, our terms are very low, viz:
TEN DOLLARS PER SESSION LESS
Than those of other good schools. MUSIC by an accomplished Teacher. au17:d78

UNITED STATES COURT.

Lycoming County Whiskey Case—Another From Greene County—The Black Counterfeiting Case.

Before Hon. Wilson McCandless.

The case of the United States against the distillery of Barber & Henderson, of Montgomery Station, Lycoming county, was brought to a close Thursday forenoon.

The jury found that the first specification in the libel was true, viz: that the rectifying distillery was in the possession of Barber & Henderson under a lease from Robert Montgomery, and that the same was operated from the 1st of December, 1866, to the 18th of March, 1867, during which time there was rectified and distilled a large amount of whisky. That the second specification was true, viz: that Barber & Henderson neglected and refused to keep the books and to make the entries required by law of the number of gallons of spirits purchased or received by them, and of whom the same were purchased, and of the number of proof gallons sold and re-delivered, and wholly neglected and refused to mark with a stencil plate each package of five gallons or more of distilled spirits sold by them; and that Barber & Henderson fraudulently received at their rectifying distillery a large amount of whisky during the period mentioned, for the purpose of being rectified at said distillery by them, on which the tax and duty of two dollars per gallon had not been paid. The third and fourth specifications were found to be not true. The fifth specification was found to be true, viz; that Barber & Henderson fraudulently received at their rectifying distillery fourteen hundred gallons of whisky for rectification, on which the revenue duty of two dollars per gallon had not been paid, with intent to evade the payment of said tax, and well knowing that the said tax had not been paid.

GREENE COUNTY CASE.

The next case was that of the United States against the distillery and fifty-five gallons of whisky, the property of Peter Ulam, of Aleppo township, Greene county. It appearing that the libel had not been filed within twenty days after the seizure, as required by law, the case was dismissed. The delay occurred through inadvertence of the revenue officer in transmitting papers to the District Attorney.

The same defendant was arraigned upon indictments charging him with the illicit distillation of whisky. There was no controversy as to the fact that the defendant was engaged in the business of a distiller, in April and May, without having paid the special tax, but Hon. A. H. Coffroth, for the defence, maintained that there was no intention to defraud, and that the tax had been paid in June. On the other hand it was contended that the defendant had not complied with the law, and was to be held responsible therefor, the payment of the tax subsequent to his offending not relieving him. The jury convicted on one indictment and the defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of $20.

CASES CONTINUED.

The Court "went through" the calendar, ordering processes to be issued for defendants and continuing quite a number of cases until the October term.

THE BLACK COUNTERFEITING CASE.

The case of the United States vs. Robert Black, indictment for counterfeiting, was reached, but owing to absence of counsel for defense, it went over till this morning, when it will certainly be taken up. We understand that upards of one hundred witnesses are in attendance, and it is likely the case will occupy several days.

Meeting of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Association.

A meeting of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Association was held Thursday afternoon, August 28th, at Room No. 4 Dalzell's building, corner of Duquesne Way and Irwin streets, President Barker in the chair.

Mr. Kirk moved that the minutes of last meeting, so far as they related to the Tack Bros., be rescinded, the meeting being irregular, not having been regularly called. Notice had been posted up but a few minutes before convening, but no mention of it had been made in the daily papers. He had no disposition to interfere with the action of the meeting, but did not desire that the minutes should be recorded.

Mr. Long, the Secretary, referred to the constitution, and said the meeting had been called at the request of five members. Two-thirds of the members had been notified, and if they did not attend it was their own fault. If the minutes were expunged he would no longer be a member of the Association, and would resign his position as Secretary.

Mr. Kirk said that he had no desire to reflect upon the officers of the Association, but he wished it understood that the Association had nothing to do with outside meetings.

President Burke explained that the meeting had been called at the request of a number of members, and that it had been held in the Oil Exchange rooms, where a large number of members of the Association were present.

The yeas and nays were called on the motion to expunge, resulting in ten nays and four yeas. Members voting in the affirmative: Messrs. Davis, Kirk, Warden and Brooks.

The minutes were then adopted as read.

Mr. Benny moved that the last clause of the resolution relating to the Tack Brothers, as passed at the last meeting, viz: "And believe that the charges brought by Mr. O'Connor are false in foundation and fact," be expunged.

Mr. Long moved that the motion be laid over until a subsequent meeting.

A motion to adjourn was lost.

Mr. Kirk offered the following as an amendment to Mr. Benny's motion.

Resolved, That the resolutions passed in regard to the Tack-O'Connor affair be rescinded, and that we, as an Association, decline to give any expression of opinion in regard to the same, but leave the entire matter to the legal tribunal to which the parties have appealed. Laid on the table.

Mr. Kirk then offered the following, which was also tabled:

Resolved, That any "ring" or combination formed for the purpose of elevating or depressing the price of oil is a positive injury to the trade; and when any charge is made against any parties for encouraging any combinations of the kind, it should be fully investigated, and, if guilty, properly punished.

The original motion to strike out was withdrawn.

Mr. Kirk offered the following report from the Railroad Committee:

WHEREAS, The recent reduction of freight on crude and refined oil on the northern lines to New York and Philadelphia, has caused a fatal discrimination against the oil interests of Pittsburgh, sufficient to produce almost a total suspension of the refining business; and whereas, the said oil interest of this vicinity paid during the year 1866 to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for freights on oil the sum of $2,000,000 and over; and whereas, other routes can, and do, carry oil at one-half the rates charged by the said Company; and whereas, this said Company carry other freight of similar character at much lower rates than charged on oils, therefore,

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Association the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, by reducing their rates of freight from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia on refined oil to one dollar per barrel, would greatly increase their carrying business and afford them sufficient remuneration for carrying the same, and would be but an act of justice to the vast trade of this place, enabling it, as it would, to compete fairly with other points, and build up, strengthen and make permanent at Pittsburgh an interest which, for its extent and usefulness to this community is second to none.

Resolved, That the Railroad Committee be authorized to lay this paper before the officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and solicit such relief as it suggests.

The report was accepted and the resolutions adopted.

Mr. Leech moved that the chair be authorized to make additions to the Railroad Committee, which was amended so as to include all members of the oil trade of this city who were requested to visit Philadelphia during the present month, for the purpose of obtaining from the officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company a reduction in freights on oil. The motion was carried as amended.

The meeting adjourned.

Singular Explosion.

The Washington Examiner says: A terrific explosion took place about two o'clock, p. m. on Friday last in the residence of Mrs. Doak, opposite the Hempfield Depot. It appears that a canister of powder had been left in a clothes-press in one of the lower chambers fronting on Railroad alley, by a son of Mrs. D. some months ago, and this was exploded by some yet unexplained cause. The explosion carried out the entire sash in the two windows in the room, and threw them a broken mass, more than twenty feet from the house; it also burst the room door open and blew the moulding from its sides; threw the press doors across the room, and even broke the castors upon a bed-stead in the apartment. Such was the force of the explosion that it broke the paper, from ceiling to floor, in an adjoining parlor, and sprung the wash-board loose in the chamber above. Fortunately no one was in the room at the time, and therefore no person was injured. As to the agency that ignited the powder, there is considerable speculation. It was evident from the appearance of the walls and shelves of the clothes-press that the fire had been burning for some time prior to the explosion, and it is likely that matches that had been left in a box on the same shelf with the powder had been ignited by rats or mice. At least this is the only explanation that can be given at present.

Accident to Colonel Foster.

From the Naples and Florence (Italy) Observer of August 10th, received yesterday by Major George W. Murphy, of the United States Marshal's Office, we learn of an accident to Colonel J. Heron Foster, of the Dispatch, of this city, who is now in the Old World, on an excursion to the Holy Land. It seems that Colonel F., with others of the excursionists, was on a visit to Mount Vesuvius, and although the accident is termed a "slight" one, we judge the Colonel made an exceedingly narrow escape. The Observer says:

"A slight accident occurred to Colonel J. Heron Foster, of Pittsburgh, United States of America, on Tuesday last, through the men who were carrying him down from the crater of Mount Vesuvius falling, pitching him out of the chair, giving him two or three somersaults before the guide caught hold of him, and thus prevented a very rapid and quite dangerous descent from the crater. Except a sprained ankle, a stiff neck and a few pockets full of lava and ashes, Colonel F. (whose health, impaired in the recent American war, is improving,) suffered no injury."

Lazy Officials.

The Ebensburg Alleghenian says: There is a well defined difference of opinion between the mail agents at Cresson as to whose duty it is to put the mails for Ebensburg on the cars. The task is not a herculean one, but either one contends that the other should of right perform it. One result of this difference is that on Tuesday evening our mails were not put on the cars at all, but were allowed to remain over night at Cresson.

Attend To It.—The Criminal Court commences on Monday next. Those held in recognizance to appear at last term, and whose cases remain undisposed of, should renew their bail on or before to-morrow, otherwise they will find their recognizances forfeited, thus incurring additional costs and inconvenience.

The Board of School Directors of Washington Borough, after a full discussion of the comparative interests of School Text-Books, adopted Osgood's series of Readers and Speller, and Dean's Arithmetic.

Two or three public meetings have lately been held in Indiana county in favor of the construction of a line of railroad from Homer, on the Indiana branch, to Cherry Tree.

Curiosities.—Last week a friend in the country sent Mr. J. S. Nixon, of Chambersburg, fifteen snake eggs, which were thrown in an open box under the counter of his store, and forgotten until Saturday, when attention being called to them, Mr. Nixon found the eggs beginning to open, and during the day nine copperhead snakes, about six inches in length, came out of the eggs. True to the instincts of nature, as soon as their heads appeared outside the shell, they stuck out their fangs and showed fight.

Twenty Thousand emigrants have gone west over the Pennsylvania Railroad since January 1st. The emigrants were principally mechanics and farmers seeking homes in the far distant west.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing about 260 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar; a frame bank barn, 40x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; the fencing is all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 200 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a valuable Garden Farm, containing 50 acres, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, and near Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville Railroad, about nineteen miles from the city. The improvements are a two-story brick house with six rooms, hall running through the house, with cellar; a No. 1 barn and other outbuildings. Abundance of the best fruits, of all varieties. Churches, Schools and Mills very convenient. Persons wishing to engage in gardening would do well to call and purchase quickly.

Also, a Farm of 140 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., about 3½ miles from the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The improvements are—First, a two-story frame house, with five rooms, a large frame barn, 45x70, corn crib, carriage house, a good stone spring house and wood house. Second—a two-story log house, a large frame barn, 40x70, a 1½ story frame spring house, and other outbuildings. The fencing is all good, abundance of limestone on the place, and coal but a short distance. Convenient to Churches, Schools, Mills, &c. I am authorized to sell this property very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 400 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R.; will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county. 220 acres cleared and under cultivation, 92 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam Sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with lime-stone soil and subsoil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, one of the best farms in Young township, Indiana county, Pa., four miles from Western Pennsylvania Railroad, at Livermore Station, containing 300 acres—225 cleared and under No. 1 fencing, the residue in good timber. The improvements are two frame dwellings, containing eight rooms each; a large bank barn, 60 by 40 feet, and other necessary outbuildings, in good order. Five acres of orchard of choice varieties of fruit; four foot vein of coal, (now open,) under all the land, and abundance of limestone. It is a good thriving neighborhood, convenient to churches, schools, mills, &c., which I am authorized to sell very low and on good terms.

Also, a Farm of 82 acres in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., near the line of the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad. Improvements are a log house, weather-boarded; frame bank barn, orchard of fifty bearing apple trees, &c. This property will be sold cheap.

Also, 60 acres in Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., within four miles of Blairsville, and three miles of two stations on the Pa. R. R. The improvements are, a new frame dwelling house and outbuilding; a new steam saw and grist mill, with two run of burrs, two bolting cloths, and all the necessary fixtures, and a young orchard of choice fruit trees. FINANCE AND TRADE.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Thursday, August 29, 1867

—Efforts are making to constitute the currency question, which is beginning to make itself felt in politics, an important element in the October and November elections of the west. It is said that a movement will be made by parties now organizing with the battle cry of "more currency," to secure a further inflation at the early session of Congress, and thus defer indefinitely the hope of resuming specie payment as labored for by Mr. McCulloch and his financial abettors. In the Western States parties are already dividing upon the question, and the ranks of the inflationists, it is said, are swelling with people who are heavily in debt, or carry loads of merchandise, or desire to maintain and increase the price of grain. The producers, too, in view of the prospect of a fall in the prices of breadstuffs, by reason of alleged scarcity of money and abundance of crops, are appealed to to save themselves from a general decline by currency expansion and continued monetary plethora. This is mere sophistry, and as a contemporary puts it, is simply "lengthening a rope by cutting off a piece from one end to splice to the other—it is trying to raise one's self by the boot straps." They ask to dilute the currency to make more of it, thus increasing the quantity to be received for produce, but deteriorating the quality of the circulating medium, and piling up future losses when the collapse arrives. On this subject a New York paper says:

> "Many, even of those who admit that inflation is a loss to the whole community, will argue that it must help a man who is in debt, as it enables him to discharge the obligation with a smaller portion of his earnings. If this were all the relation which the debtor has to society, it might be true; but there are none so situated as to be relieved from the reacting effects of such a measure, and none but the very reckless would dream of favoring it, if they could but see the length and breadth of its operations. All producers, including all those who are engaged in any kind of toil, must suffer from the inflation. Every dollar wasted under it is an extra tax on their labor, and they cannot by any ingenuity escape the burden."

The real cause of trouble and complaint for some time has been the plethora of money, consequent upon business stagnation. If now, in the west, where the crops are to be moved, money shall be wanted it will only be supplying the needed employment to the money already in existence. But no section will suffer so much from currency inflation as the agricultural west. The farmers and laborers must pay higher prices for everything they purchase when the currency is redundant. Neither wages nor wheat rise in proportion to the increase of the general scale of prices; and this has been signally proved by our experience for the last six years. As the National Intelligencer says: "Bankrupt speculators may profit by the inflation of currency and of prices. These are the only classes in the country who are to be benefitted by the proposition of an addition to the amount of paper currency."

But is urged by the inflationists that the field for the use of currency is larger now, and that the wealth, commerce and activity of the country require more of it to fulfill the functions for which money is used. This is true, to a certain extent, but the fact that the currency is not equal to gold, implies strongly that the former is yet too redundant. Some again are content that we should not contract the currency nor increase it, but wait ten, fifteen or twenty years for the growth of the country, for the probable depreciation of gold by productiveness of the mines, until currency and bullion shall be equal. But this theory also implies that the currency is now too redundant. Upon this whole subject, however, there are but two vital points which we have repeatedly delared. On the one hand, contraction should not be pushed rashly, lest a fatal disturbance be introduced into the money market; and, on the other hand, the clamor for more paper money must not prevent us from seeing that "more currency" means more inflation, more depreciation, higher premium on gold, higher prices for all the necessaries of life, and further removed from the long-desired gold standard.

—The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 141⅜; Eighty-one bonds, 111⅜; Five Twenties, 1862, 113⅞; Five Twenties, 1864 109⅜; Five Twenties, 1865, 110⅝; 5-20's, Consols, 108; Seven Thirties, @107⅜; Ten Forties, 102⅞. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 69¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 99¾; Chicago and Rock Island, 103; Chicago and Northwestern, 46; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 69¾; Fort Wayne Railroad, 104½; Michigan Southern Railroad, 82½; New York Central, 104⅞; Reading, 103¾; Western Union Telegraph Co., 42⅞. Mining shares—Corydon, 1,25; Gregory, 6,25; Quartz Hill, 1,05; Smith & Paramalee, 5,35.

Gold opened at 142, declined to 141⅝, but closed strong at 141¾@141⅞. The cabinet imbroglio keeps the market very strong with an advancing tendency. According to advices from cool headed speculators in Wall street, it is aimed at to run up prices much higher before the first of November. The stock market is dull at higher quotations. Government securities have advanced, especially 5-20s of 1862 ⅜ per cent., 1881s ⅛, 5-20s 1864 and 1865, ¼; 10-40s, ⅛; and 7-30s ⅛. August 7-30s and 5-20 consols have declined. From this it is evident that the Secretary of the Treasury intends to buy the June 7-30s and sell 5-20s instead. The Mining share market is firmer with little doing.

The local money market is dull; the demand for money exceeds the supply. Bank, Insurance and miscellaneous stocks cannot be sold except at concessions.

—In regard to the working of the Bankrupt law, the Philadelphia Commercial List says:

> The new Bankrupt law has not had the effect in business circles that was anticipated. There is one provision of the new law which deters many from taking advantage of it who would have been very ready to make an assignment under any previous law we have had. We refer to that which requires a statement under oath in court of the true disposition of property, and answers to cross-examinations on the subject. The laws against perjury cannot be defied with impunity, and the penalty is severe. This feature has been nominally represented, in all our laws, but generally in a loose and unreliable manner. The most important provision of the new law, however, and in which it differs materially from the ineffective State laws on which merchants have depended of late years, is that the creditor can force a debtor into what is called "involuntary" bankruptcy. The value of this provision as a protection to the business man, can hardly be over estimated. Heretofore the rogue who wished to avoid his debts could take almost his own time in coming to an assignment; stow away his property this way and that way, to suit his convenience, and dispose of what he likes in the way of fictitious sales. Under the present law the creditor can force the man into court, and by questions and answers under oath, to which he is obliged to respond, learn what the disposition of his property has been. The penalty for false swearing is quick, sharp and rigid. Fictitious sales are set aside as void, and the assets fairly divided among the creditors. This has been the shape of the English law for many years, and has worked admirably, both for debtor and creditor. The penalty there has always been severe for withholding anything before the court, or making false returns.
>
> We are already reaping the advantage of the involuntary bankrupt provision; rogues in all directions are being brought into court to account for their suspicious transactions. We have several in our mind as we write in whom Philadelphia houses are interested. Our merchants have suffered for years from the looseness of our bankrupt system. "Failing to get rich" has become almost a proverbial phrase in the country. We see continually men making assignments who have retrenched in nothing of their extravagant living, apparently as wealthy after as before their "misfortune," and in reality more so! We trust this mode of swindling has found its quietus in the new law, and that our merchants can trust their goods into the hands of their customers with something more than legal forms and technicalities in their favor. We have had enough of the old system of business. It is time our laws were more rigid, both in form and execution.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Thursday, August 29, 1867.

The general markets continue very dull and devoid of any new characteristics worthy of special notice. There appears to be a fair volume of business, in the aggregate, but the transactions in almost everything are on an exceedingly limited scale, and, as a consequence, we have but few round lot operations to record. In prices, there are no very important changes, though, generally speaking, the tendency continues downward.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged—but little offering; we continue to quote at $2,10@2,15 for prime Penna and Ohio Red. Oats cannot fairly be quoted above 54@55c on track, or 45@50c, to arrive—sale of 1 car, in elevator, at 54c. Corn is firm and in limited supply; prime Yellow may be fairly quoted at $1,05@$1,07. Rye is quiet and unchanged at $1,20. No movement in Barley; we continue to quote nominally at 90 cents for Spring, and $1@1,10 for fall.

FLOUR—The Flour market continues dull anp weak, and, if anything, prices have still further declined. Choice new Spring Wheat brands are now selling at $10, which is a decline of fully one dollar per bbl within a week. Winter Wheat remains unchanged at $10,75@11,25, and fancy brands, $13@14. Rye Flour is selling in a small way at $7,75@8.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm, with a steady demand but unchanged. We now quote at 12½c for Shoulders; 14½@15½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 21½c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is quoted firm at 13½@13¾ in tierces, and 13¾@14c in kegs. Mess Pork is quoted at $24@24,50.

GREEN APPLES—Continue excessively dull, and the market is largely overstocked. We continue to quote at $2@3,50 per bbl, for common to prime.

PEACHES—Continue to arrive pretty freely from the east, but the demand keeps up, and as a consequence, prices are maintained—$2,50@3 per box.

BUTTER—There is a continued good demand for prime fresh pail and firkin Butter, and we can report regular sales at 24@25. Common packed is in good supply and very dull.

SEEDS—Sale of 26 sacks Timothy Seed reported at $2,50. The mills are offering but $2,25 for small lots of Flaxseed, but it is probable that a round lot would bring $2,40, or even $2,50. Nothing doing in Clover Seed.

EGGS—Fresh packed are in rather better demand, and may be quoted at 13@14c.

HAY—Is quiet and unchanged—sales reported at $14 to $18 per ton, according to quality.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged, with regular sales reported at 12½@15c, according to quality.

OIL—Lard Oil is firm but unchanged at 85c for No. 2, and $1,05 for No. 1.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Thursday, August 29, 1867.

CRUDE—The Crude market presents no new characteristics worthy of special notice. There is no apparent improvement to note in the demand, and while the general tone of the trade seems to be in favor of buyers, and against holders, prices, nevertheless, are without quotable change. Sale of 250 bbls, on spot, at 10c, bbls to be returned; 100 "Smith's Ferry" at 8¾, and 3000 bbls for all 1867, buyer's option, at 10c. There may have been other transactions, but the above are all we had reported, and as has been the case for some time past, there is scarcely enough doing to establish quotations. The rains at the headwaters of the Allegheny on Wednesday do not appear to have had any influence on that stream, and the slight hopes entertained of a "bulk rise" are about as distant as ever.

REFINED—There was a decidedly better feeling in the market for bonded oil to-day, which may be attributed to the improved character of the foreign news, as well as to the fact that the first of Sept. is near at hand, and it may be that some "short" sellers will be forced into the market in order to cover their contracts. Sale of 500 bbls, on spot, at 27½c; 500 do do at 28c; 500 for September, buyer's option, at 29c; 500 do same month and option, at same price; 1000 on spot, at 28c, and 500 to be delivered within fifteen days, at 28½c. As will be seen from the above sales, prices are better, the advance both for spot oil and September, being fully half a cent. There is no excitement, however, and the reasons for the apparent improvement we have already given.

OIL SHIPPED EAST BY A. V. R. R.

Wightman & Anderson, 150 bbls refined, to P. Wright & Sons, Philadelphia.
Lockart & Frew, 559 do do, Philadelphia.
Dilworth & Bros., 250 do do to F. A. Dilworth, Philadelphia.
P. [illegible] & Co., 100 do do to Waring, King & Co, Philadelphia.
McCreery & Beaumont, 115 do do to W. P. Logan & Bro., Philadelphia.

OIL SHIPPED EAST FROM DUQUESNE DEPOT.

Sterling Oil Works, 109 bbls refined to W. P. Logan & Bro., Philadelphia.
J. K. Barbour, 5 bbls crude to D. L. Miller, Philadelphia.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette,
Thursday, August 29, 1867.

SHIPMENTS OF LIVE-STOCK EAST.

The shipments of stock East during the week ending August 27th, were as follows:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.
Philadelphia	873	3212	9993
N. Y. via Phila	235	....	539
N. Y. via Allentown	2808	7012	3388

CATTLE.

The transactions in cattle have again been large this week, but the sales have been restricted mainly to common cattle, as there were but few of any other kind here. Prime fat cattle were in demand at pretty full prices, say from 7 to 7½c—some few droves of extra brought 8c. There is a continued good demand for stock cattle at about last week's prices—say 4@5c for light cows, heifers and steers, and 5¾@6c for prime feeding cattle, averaging from 1000 to 1200 lbs. Philadelphia buyers took hold pretty freely, though they operated cautiously and generally asked for concessions, compared with last week. There were some few droves bought for New York market—so far as we could learn, there were none shipped to Baltimore. The shipments of stock cattle to the eastern part of the State were again large, and several car loads of light cattle were sent to Philadelphia. Upon the whole, the market was as good as could have been expected under existing circumstances, and notwithstanding the offerings were large, there were but few left over.

SHEEP.

The Sheep market continues excessively dull with a supply largely in excess of the demand, and what is worse still, there is but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. The number of buyers in attendance was not up to the usual standard, and with no falling off in the arrivals, and a decreased demand, the market was exceedingly dull, and compared with last week, prices have still further declined. The best fat Sheep, may be fairly quoted at 3½@4c, gross—extra at 4½@5c, and inferior to common 2@3½c. Stock Sheep sold at from $1@2 per head, and very dull; indeed, it is hard to find buyers for this particular grade of Sheep at any price. No operations in Lambs at these yards this week—sold in Allegheny at $1,50@3,50 per head.

HOGS.

There has been a fair business done in Hogs this week, and with a demand about equal to the supply, prices for prime fat Hogs, if anything, sold at a slight advance, compared with last week. Good Philadelphia Hogs sold in the early part of the week at 7½c—one or two bunches of extra brough 7,65@7,75. To-day, however, the market was less active, and there were no buyers at the prices last noted. New York Hogs sold all the way from 6¼ to 7c, according to quality and condition. Common and inferior Hogs, as has been the case for some time past, continue very dull, and as will be seen by reference to report of sales, one drove of "scalawags" changed hands at 5¼.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with about twenty-eight inches in channel last evening. The rains at the headwaters of the Allegheny on Wednesday appear to have had no influence on that stream, and the hopes that were entertained of a rise have subsided. We had several heavy showers of rain here on Wednesday night, and at times it looked very much like rain again yesterday.

The Leni Leoti is the only boat plying on this end of the Ohio, but how long she will continue so to do it is difficult to tell.

STEAMBOAT LAW—THE CONVENTION.—The late Steamboatmen's Convention that convened at St. Louis are to hold an adjourned convention, or meeting, in Cincinnati, sometimes next month. In the meantime the active committee, to revise and amend the steamboat law so as to present it to Congress for its consideration, have not been idle. They have had a number of blank forms printed and partly filled in, and are inviting the boatmen everywhere to consider, and, if necessary, revise the the new laws made up by the committee of the convention. This is likely to make the revision complete and satisfactory to all parties, and if it receives the approval of the boatmen, as well as the convention, is is likely to be adopted by Congress.

On Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning about one o'clock, as five men and five women of the demi-monde were returning from the sand bar on the Kentucky shore, opposite the city, where they had gone for the purpose of bathing, the skiff which contained them sunk, and two women were drowned before assistance could reach them. The screams of the women for help were heart-rending. One was plainly heard from the wharf to exclaim: "Oh, for God's sake save me; I am not prepared to die!" Several yawls and skiffs went immediately to their assistance, but as the river is about one mile in width, and the accident occurred near the middle, the two women who were lost became exhausted and sank, while another was caught by the hair in the act of sinking for the last time.

Captain Bart Leiper, well-known on the river in olden times, as commander of the Stephen Decatur and other steamers, is now planting, back of Carson's Landing, in Bolliver county, Mississippi. He is also President of the Board of Registration for that county.

The Council Bluffs and St. Joseph Packet Line numbers four first-class steamers. The Council Bluffs and Sioux City Packet Line, with two steamers, and the Council Bluffs and Fort Benton Packet Line. The boats which compose all these lines are said to average 450 tons burden each.

ST. LOUIS, August 27.—Hot and parching weather continues. The rivers are all declining. To Cairo there is eight feet; fair water to Keokuk; the Illinois deplorably low; the Missouri steadily nearing a troublesome condition. Rates to New Orleans are advanced. Rates tend upward also to points above here. The steamer Last Chance, bound to Fort Union, sunk above Yankton, July 25th, with a cargo of Indian goods, which were badly damaged. The boat was raised, and proceeded onward.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Enquirer, of Wednesday: Captain John Sebastian, formerly commander of the John H. Groesbeck, and later in the naval service, in which he lost an arm, was yesterday nominated by the Rads as a candidate for County Treasurer, an office, it is estimated, worth $30,000 per annum.

The R. C. Gray arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday morning, and after discharging fifty tons of freight here, went on to Louisville, for which place she had one hundred tons. Capt. Gray will load at Louisville for Cairo and Memphis.

Captain Lew Vandergriff arrived from Southern Indiana yesterday, where he has been rusticating.

Capt. Hueston will place lighter machinery on the Peerless, remodel her cabin, and generally overhaul and renovate her, previous to commencing business with her.

Our port list yesterday comprised the following boats: New York, Silver Cloud, Clinton, Bertha, R. C. Gray, Sam. J. Hale, Argosy, Camelia, America, Belle, General Buell and Potomac.

The Gazette, of same date, says: Captains George and William Baker, of the steamer Sherman, arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday morning. They will remain here two or three days, when they will proceed to Saint Louis, where the Sherman is laid up during low water.

The Fire King is still at Madison. On the way from Hamilton to the latter place, several arms of her wheel were broken, and they are now being replaced with new ones. A gentleman who came up on the mail boat yesterday morning informs us that about 1800 persons visited her on Sunday and Monday, including a number of steamboatmen from Louisville, and all appeared of one opinion—that she had proved herself capable of performing all that had been claimed for her. She will proceed to Louisville to-morrow or next day.

A letter from Alton, Indiana, the 25th, says the steamer Rose Hite landed there about 2 a. m., and a gentleman and lady got off and started up town. In the morning a lady's hat, some wearing apparel, and a carpet bag, were found on shore; search was made, and the bodies of the man and women were found in the river, her arms fast around his neck. In a carpet bag several cards were found, with the name of Mary Burton on them, and part of a letter, dated Cincinnati. The man's name is supposed to be Nepley. They registered their names on the boat as Mr. Williams and lady.

Capt. Davis' new propeller, for Mobile, was launched at New Albany, on Saturday evening. She is of the same size as the Lucretia and Sarah, built there last season for the same parties.
